Mawr was born into a family of powerful dragonborn wizards who traveled the land as traders, seeking rare and valuable magical artifacts. Growing up among merchants and adventurers, she learned the ways of trade and treachery, always looking out for her own interests above all else. Mawr's mastery of spells and quick wit enabled her to manipulate situations to her advantage, earning a reputation as a cunning and unpredictable individual. Fluent in Common, Draconic, and Dwarvish, she navigated the rugged terrain and diverse cultures with ease, always on the lookout for her next big score. In pursuit of wealth and power, Mawr crisscrossed the land, leaving chaos and confusion in her wake.
